Numb. 227.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

THURSDAY June 1, 1738.

Mr. Timothy,

If you will publiſh in your next Gazette Doct. Pitcairn's Method of curing the Small-Pox, (which I herewith ſend you) I believe it may be acceptable to your Readers, and of Service to thoſe who cannot have the Aſſiſtance of a Phyſician. I am &c.

A. GARDEN.

1. IF a Child, or any Perſon grow ſick, feveriſh, or has a Pain in the Back, or Slot of the Breaſt, Loſs of Appetite, Drowſineſs, ſhort Cough, Sneezing, watery Eyes, or ſome of theſe; but always accompanied with ſome Heat, and frequent Pulſe, or Drought. In this caſe Blood is to be taken at the Arm, or with Loch-Leeches; and if the Fever ceaſes not, tho' the Pox appear, let Blood a ſecond or third time. Mean time, give the Child a Spoonful of Syrup of white Poppies at Night, and in the Night time alſo, till Sleep or Eaſe comes.

2. After the Pox appears, and Fever is gone, then ſteep a Handful of Sheeps Purles in a large * Mutchkin of Carduus Water, or Hyſop Water or Fountain-water, for 5 or 6 Hours; then pour it off without ſtraining, and ſweeten it with Syrup of red Poppies. Give of this a Spoonful or two, every 4th or 5th Hour, to make the Pox fill, and preſerve the Throat. Always at Night-time, and in the Night, give a Spoonfull or two of the Syrup of white Poppies for a Cordial, that keeps down the Fever and keeps up the Pox.

3. If the Pox run together in the Face, (which is the only thing that brings Hazard) uſe the Infuſion of the Purles, and the Syrup of white Poppies oftner than in other Caſes; alſo about the eighth Day from the appearing of the Pox, or a little before that, give the Child to drink of Barley-water, ſweetned with Syrup of white Poppies; this will make the Child ſpit, which ſaves the Child.

* A Pint Meaſure.

4. The Child's Drink may be Milk and Water at other times, or Emulſion, but uſe the firſt rather.

5. Apply nothing to the Face. Uſe no Wine, or Winith Poſſets.

6. If any Looſeneſs comes before the 4th Day of the Eruption, ſtop it with Syrup of Poppies, and five or ſeven Drops of liquid Laudanum given now and then till it be ſtopt.

Let the Child's Diet be all along a thin Bread-Berry in the Morning, a weak Broth, and ſoft Bread for Dinner, and Milk and Bread at Night, or Sugar-Bisket and Milk, and about the fifth Day from the Eruption, give the Child Water-gruel ſometimes.

Note, 1. If at any time the Small-pox diſappear, with a Raving before the 5th, 6th, or 8th Day from the Eruption, then let Blood again, and apply a large Bliſtering Plaiſter between the Shoulders, and give an Emulſion.

2. If the Small-Pox fall down, without raving, then apply a Bliſtering Plaiſter large between the Shoulders, and give an Emulſion, and boyl in a Gill of Water, and as much white or red Wine, half a Dram or a Dram of Zedoary-Root ſlized, 2 Figgs, and 2 Scruples of Theriac or Diaſcordium; ſweeten it with Syrup of Kermes and white Poppies, each half an Ounce.

3. In the End of the Diſeaſe, that is, about the 10th, 11th, 14th, &c Day after the Eruption, if the Child's Defluxion is groſs, either apply a new Veſicatory, or give often the Spirit of Hart-horn, in Syrup of Violets, or a Vomitor.

Laſtly, When the Pox is blackened ſufficiently, or about the 14th Day from the Eruption, let the Child drink Whey, eat Porrage, &c. Broth with Prunes, unleſs the Child's Belly is open enough of it ſelf.

But if the Child is ſo young or unlucky, as not to cough heartily, and force up the Defluxions; or if the Fruit thickens it, apply to the Slot of his Breaſt a Pultes of Theriac, Diaſcordium, Alkermes, Oyl of Roſemary, and Camphire ſelf with warm Claret, in a double linnen Cloath often.

2. And to the Throat apply, in a double linnen Cloath, a Pulteſs of Cow's Dung boil'd with Milk, and ſoft white Bread: put a little Brandy to as much as you apply at a time.

3. For the Defluxion alſo give inwardly ſome of this, which has a Dram of Sperma Cæti well mix'd in a Glaſs-Mortar (not a Braſs one) with fine Sugar; to which add at leiſure Syrup of Violets, or Balſamick, or Poppy Syrup, with ſome Spirit of Harthorn.

If the Pox was confluent, or run together on the Face, then, after the perſon is recovered, give a Purgative, to bring away the Remainder of the Pox within the Guts.

CHARLES-TOWN, June 1.

Yeſterday arrived here an Aſſiento Sloop called the Sea-horſe, Capt. Willis from the Havanna, with about 30 Engliſh and 4 French Paſſengers on board, among the firſt is Capt. Joris, who in his Voyage from Jamaica ſome time ſince loſt his Pink, and he and his People betaking themſelves to their long Boat made to the Havanna, where all what they had ſaved was taken from them, he has been detained at that Place 20 weeks till now, when he obtained Liberty with the reſt of the Engliſh Priſoners to embark for this Place. Among the laſt is a French Captain, who ſays, that having arrived at the Havannah in his Sloop loaden with Proviſions, he was treated very civilly, and ſold his Cargo, but coming out bound to Jamaica, he loſt his Maſt, and putting back to refit, they would not allow him to come in, ſo that he was obliged to leave her and go Paſſenger to this Place.

We don't hear that the Small-pox ſpreads much in this Town, and there are very few that have it the natural way, and all very favourably, but ſeveral being fond of having it, have been inoculated, and probably the Diſtemper has been propagated more that way, than it would have been truſting to Providence, and uſing prudent Precautions in preparing the Body in caſe of an Attack. What Succeſs the Inoculation will have in thoſe Parts of the World we ſhall learn by thoſe that have been willing to expoſe themſelves to the Tryal.

We hear that James Crokatt Eſq; has been appointed one of the Members of his Majeſty's Honourable Council.

LONDON, Febr. 7.

They write from Stuttgard, that Suſs the Jew, heretofore Privy-Counſellor and Preſident of the Chamber of Finances to the late Duke of Wirtemberg, was hang'd there the 4th of this Month, on a Gallows of Iron, and afterwards put into an Iron Cage fix'd thereto. The following Circumſtances are told of him: That having been conducted before the Commiſſaries which were to pronounce Judgment againſt him, he threw himſelf at their Feet, and made the moſt earneſt Supplications to obtain Pardon, but was ſilenc'd that he might hear his Sentence. When they came to that part of it which ſays, That he was condemn'd to be hang'd for having endeavour'd to ruin his Country, he gave Tokens of the moſt violent Deſpair: They were obliged to hold him, and to ſtop his Mouth. He was carried to Execution cloathed in Scarlet embroider'd with Gold. He ſtruggled ſo much, and made ſo violent a Reſiſtance, that it was with great Difficulty he was executed. He would fain have ſpoke to the People when he was upon the Ladder, but he was hindered by the Noiſe of Drums.

From Vienna, that the Turks, who are apprehenſive of the Deſign of the Ruſſians to march into Tranſylvania, have aſſembled a great Body of Troops in order to oppoſe them, and have taken Poſſeſſion of Port de Fer, one of the ſtrongeſt Paſſages from Walachia into that Province. The Grand Signior diſcovers Diſpoſitions of risking every Thing rather than conſent to leave Oczakow in the Power of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, who being likewiſe poſſeſs'd of Aſoph, two of the moſt important Places upon the black Sea, will thereby be enabled, whenever ſhe ſhall think fit, not only to interrupt the Navigation thereof, but even of making Attempts on Conſtantinople itſelf. The Baſhaw of Widdin fearing that if the Negociations of Peace ſhould be unſucceſsful, the Imperialiſts would attack that Place, has cauſed to be ſurrounded with a Retrenchment and Palliſadoes. The Turks commit great Devaſtations upon the Frontiers.

They write from l'Orient in Bretagne, that ſeveral of the French Eaſt-India Company's Ships, bound for Bengal, have taken great Quantities of incorruptible Water on board for their Voyage. The Secret of giving it that Quality was found by the Abbe de la Landé, and has been approv'd by the French Academy of Sciences. It is ſaid the ſame ingenious Clergyman has propoſed another Secret for preſerving Biſcuit from Corruption at Sea; and it is now actually under the Conſideration of that learned Body.

From Paris, that the King languiſhes under a great Exceſs of Weakneſs.
